The Company’s key performance indicators, that give an understanding of the development, performance and position of the business, are aligned with those of the Shell Group. The development, performance and position of the various businesses is discussed on pages 45 to 79 of the Group Report and the key performance indicators through which the Group’s performance is measured are as set out on pages 42 to 44 of the Group Report.

Section 172(1) statement/Statement of stakeholder interests

The Companies (Miscellaneous Reporting) Regulations 2018 (‘2018 MRR’) require Directors to explain how they considered the interests of key stakeholders and the broader matters set out in section 172(1) (A) to (F) of the Companies Act 2006 (‘S172’) when performing their duty to promote the success of the Company under S172. This includes considering the interest of other stakeholders which will have an impact on the long-term success of the company.

This Section 172 Statement, explains how the Directors have acted in the way they consider, in good faith, would most likely promote the success of the Company for the benefit of its member, and in doing so have regard (among other matters) to:

- the likely consequences of any decision in the long term and the impact of the Company’s operations on the community and the environment;
- the desirability of the Company maintaining a reputation for high standards of business conduct; and
- employee interests, the need to foster the Company’s business relationships with suppliers, customers, and others, and the effect of that regard, including on the principal decisions taken by the Company during the financial year.

Before matters are put to the Company Board for consideration, significant levels of engagement are often undertaken by the broader business as part of the project activities. This engagement is often governed by formulated policies, control frameworks, regulation, legislation and may differ by region. Dependent on the project or activity, Board members may participate in this engagement.

The Company is a subsidiary of Royal Dutch Shell plc (“Shell”, and together with its subsidiaries, “Shell Group”), an organisation with subsidiary entities operating in some seventy countries. Shell and its subsidiaries follow a highly developed and formalised governance and oversight framework, which includes but is not limited to group wide policies such as the Shell General Business Principles (which sets out the Shell Group’s responsibilities to shareholders, customers, employees, business partners and society) and the Shell Code of Conduct.

The Shell Group internally organises its activities principally along business and function lines but transacts its business through separate legal entities. This organisation structure is designed to achieve Shell’s overall business objectives, whilst respecting the separate legal identity of the individual Shell companies through which it is implemented and the independence of each Board of Directors.

Principal Decisions in 2019

Upon review of the Board activity in 2019 we have determined that no principle decisions were taken by the Board during the year under review. All matters considered by the Board were either standing board updates or the approval of administrative matters.

How were stakeholders considered

We describe how stakeholders were considered during the decision-making process by summarising the relevant discussions. The relevance of each stakeholder group’s interests may differ depending on the nature of decisions being considered. Board decisions will not necessarily result in a positive outcome for all of our stakeholders, but by considering our purpose, values and business objectives, and having due regard for stakeholder relationships, the Board aims to ensure that its decisions promote the long-term success of the Company.
